Application for additional claims in Cameroon

BWA Group plc [AQSE: BWAP], which has mineral exploration licences split between Cameroon and Canada at various stages of development and is quoted on London's AQSE Growth Market (formerly NEX), announces that through a newly formed subsidiary, BWA Minerals Cameroon Limited, it has applied for two rutile sands exploration licences at Song-Loulou. The two areas, comprising a total of 992 sq km are contiguous with the BWA Group's existing licence area at Nkoteng and part of the same prospective river system. The application has been acknowledged by the Cameroon Ministry of Mines, Investment and Technological Development.

BWA now has two exploration licences in Cameroon on which it is already working and is awaiting the issue of a total of five more rutile sands licences.

The Directors of BWA are responsible for the contents of this announcement.
